

ADMIT ESTERHAZY WAS THE TRAITOR

Prosecution's Last Ray of Hope

NOW ACCUSE DREYFUS OF BEING AN ACCOMPLICE.

Paleologue Gives Testimony Most Favorable For the Accused—Whispered That His Revelation is Germany's Response to Labor's Call—Shown That Cernuschi Has An Evil Reputation As a Swindler and Gambler—Picquart's Army Conduct Attacked By Major Lauth—Which Brought Forth Hisses—Deposition of Du Paty de Clam.

Reims, Sept. 6.—[Special].—A tremendous sensation was caused at today's session of the Dreyfus court-martial when Paleologue, representing the foreign office, and a witness for the prosecution, stated that Count Von Muenster, the German ambassador at Paris, had informed foreign Minister Delcasse that Col. Schwartzkoppen had sent many petit bleus to Esterhazy, of which the petit bleu in this case was probably one.

This is an admission that Esterhazy was the traitor.

It is whispered that Paleologue's revelation is Germany's response to M. Labori's call.

The first two hours were spent in secret session in which Cernuschi was shown to have an evil reputation as a swindler and gambler. Unimportant witnesses were first called.

Attack Picquart's Army Conduct

When the doors opened, Picquart's conduct in the army was then attacked by Major Lauth, his most determined detractor. This brought loud hisses from the audience and order was restored with much difficulty.

Next came Paleologue's statement. The court almost jumped from their chairs at his revelations and cries heard in the court-room of "It is Germany's reply." "He admits that Esterhazy is a traitor." "It will clear Dreyfus." "Germany has spoken, next she will send documents."

An eloquent speech by Trarieux denouncing Esterhazy was the next.

Gen. Billot followed in a reply admitting that Esterhazy was the real traitor but intimating that Dreyfus was his accomplice.

Dreyfus and Labori Protest

This created another immense sensation and Dreyfus screamed at the top of his voice, "I protest against the vile insinuation."

A great uproar followed. Labori also protested.

President Jonaus exclaimed, "I deprive you of the floor." Labori continued to protest until he almost fell from exhaustion and pain from his wound.

After a pause Billot added, "Have you not flatly declared that Esterhazy and Dreyfus were accomplices?"

The rest of the testimony was unimportant and uninteresting.

The deposition of Du Paty de Clam was then read. It was most disappointing, being merely a repetition of his testimony before the court of cassation, telling how he was instructed to make tests of Dreyfus' handwriting and draw an indictment.

The court then adjourned.

Labori Receives Replies.

Reims, Sept. 6.—[Special].—It is learned that Labori has received replies to his telegrams to the kaiser and King Humbert, but their nature cannot be ascertained. Labori said he expected Schwartzkoppen and Panizzardi, or both, to come to Reims this week.

Germany Will Refuse Request

Berlin, Sept. 6.—[Special].—As yet no official request from France that Schwartzkoppen be allowed to testify at Reims has been received by the foreign office. It is expected to come through the ordinary diplomatic channels.

When it is delivered it will be refused, as Buelow's declaration in the upper house was that Dreyfus never had had any connection with the intelligence office, which is considered sufficient.

Panizzardi Will Not Testify

It is learned that Panizzardi will not be allowed to testify at the Dreyfus trial. Italy is willing but is restrained by Germany.

Reims, Sept. 6.—Attorney Labori Tuesday afternoon telegraphed personal appeals to Emperor William and King Humbert to grant permission to Col. Schwartzkoppen and Col. Panizzardi, German and Italian military attaches in Paris in 1894, to come to Reims to testify in the trial of Capt. Dreyfus.

The appeals were couched in eloquent terms, invoking the assistance of their majesties in the name of justice and humanity. They are quite supplementary to the formal application that will be made by the government commissary, Major Carriere.

The demand of Attorney Labori that the court-martial should issue process, subject to the approval of the two sovereigns, came like a thunderbolt at Tuesday's session. The step is fraught with momentous consequences, as it affords Emperor William an opportunity again to assume his favorite role of arbiter of the destinies of the world. No one will be surprised if Col. Schwartzkoppen, in the name of the kaiser, makes a declaration that will practically decide the result of the trial.

Both Schwartzkoppen and Panizzardi must consult their respective sovereigns before starting, but the counsel for Dreyfus fully expect them to arrive here, if they come at all, in time to give their testimony Thursday, in which case the trial would probably be concluded this week and the verdict be delivered Friday or Saturday.

Col. Jonaus told Demange at the close of Tuesday's session that if he received official notification that Col. Schwartzkoppen and Panizzardi were coming to depose he would be prepared to adjourn the trial pending their arrival. An adjournment of forty-eight hours would probably give them time to get here.

The appearance of Col. Schwartzkoppen and Panizzardi would be the most sensational as well as the most important incident of the entire trial. Their depositions would be a formal and emphatic declaration that they never had any relations with the accused, and they would make such a statement that the court must order an acquittal.

Those who are in the confidence of the counsel entrusted with the defense express a firm conviction that Dreyfus will now be acquitted. Nevertheless, one of the most important generals declared himself "quite pleased with the progress of the trial thus far" and confident of a conclusion "eminently satisfactory to the prosecution."

BRITISH CABINET'S URGENT SUMMONS

MINISTRY CALLED TO CONSIDER TRANSVAAL CRISIS.

Warlike Scenes in London—Significant Activity Displayed at the Admiralty and in War and Colonial Offices—President Kruger's Reply Received.

London, Sept. 6.—Premier Salisbury came to London today to confer with Joseph Chamberlain, the secretary of state for the colonies, and a cabinet council has been summoned for Friday, urgent messages having been sent to all the ministers requesting their attendance.

There is great activity at the admiralty, the war office and the colonial office. Numerous telegrams from South Africa arrived at the colonial office yesterday, but their contents have not been made public. Gen. Lord Wolseley, field marshal and commander in chief, is in daily communication with the war office, as are also Gen. Sir Evelyn Wood, adjutant-general to the forces, and Col. Hector Archibald MacDonald, aid-de-camp to the queen.

The Press association asserts that the officers of the Highland Light Infantry at Devonport have notified their men to prepare for departure, probably on Thursday.

The Daily Mail expresses the opinion that the "next move will be an ultimatum, unless President Kruger yields." It declares that 15,000 men is the outside number that the Transvaal government can put into the field.

The Berlin correspondent of the Daily Mail says: "I learn from Boer sources that reliable news has been received at The Hague from Pretoria to the effect that President Kruger will not give Mr. Chamberlain time to send an ultimatum, but will take advantage of the first suspicious move of the British troops on the border to assume the offensive."

Boer Reply Is in London.

The Boer reply to Chamberlain is now in London, and there is great suspense until its contents are known.

According to Mr. Reitz, the Transvaal state secretary, the dispatch gives Chamberlain an opening to come to terms on the franchise question, and also accepts the conference, which is a different affair from the joint commission.

War Talk on Both Sides.

Meanwhile there is much warlike talk on both sides.

The Boer volkeraad has passed a motion demanding information from the government on the subject of concentration of British troops on the frontier.

In the course of the debate strong language was prevalent. One member referred to the raiders as murderers, and another denounced what he called British treachery.

Finally the motion passed with a demand for information by Thursday.

Germans Warn Kruger.

Berlin, Sept. 6.—The Neueste Nachrichten, commenting upon the news that the Germans in the Transvaal are forming a league to help the Boers, says: "We fear that this offer will induce the Transvaal government to carry their resistance against Great Britain further than is advisable."

Other influential German papers continue to warn President Kruger that he need not hope to receive the least help from Europe.

Offer Services in Case of War.

Berlin, Sept. 6.—The Berlin Neueste Nachrichten publishes a dispatch from Pretoria which says that 3,000 German outlanders in the cities of Pretoria, Krugersdorp, Johannesburg and Heidelberg have offered their services to the Transvaal army in case of war with Great Britain. It was the excellence of his work here, as is shown in the report of his bureau, that brought about the Washington offer. Mr. Erickson is the first statistician in the United States to complete reliable statistics on the cost of production of grain, and he desires to continue the work so auspiciously begun.

Including a parapet of five feet, its total height is 20 feet; thickness at the base, 25 feet; at the top, 15 feet. Towers occur at intervals of about 100 yards, the dimensions of which are: Base, 40 feet square; summit, 30 feet; height, from 37 to 50 feet. Earth inclosed in brickwork forms the mass of the wall, but for more than half its length it is now little else than a crumbling heap of rubbish. It was built as a guard against Tartar and other invaders, but never served its purpose. It is the man behind the gun—or, in this case, the man behind the wall—that offers the only sure defense.

UNVEIL MONUMENT AT DE PERE TODAY

UPON THE SITE OF CHAPEL ERECTED IN 1671.

Built By Father Claude Allouez, a Pioneer Jesuit Missionary—State Historical Society Meets at Green Bay—Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Jackson of This City, Attend.

Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Jackson, went to Green Bay yesterday, where they will attend the annual meeting of the State Historical society, in that city. The society will today unveil an historical monument at De Pere, upon the site of the chapel, erected in the year 1671 by Father Claude Allouez, a pioneer Jesuit missionary among the Indians. Mr. Jackson is a member of the committee having the work in charge.

The De Pere mission was the second Catholic mission chapel built in Wisconsin. It was known as the Jesuit mission of St. Francis Xavier. Father Allouez has the distinction of building the first Roman Catholic chapel on Wisconsin territory—the mission of the Holy Ghost, at Ashland, in 1665.

Claude Jean Allouez was born in France in 1620, and died near St. Joseph's river in the present state of Indiana in 1690. He went to Quebec from France in 1690. As a Jesuit missionary he traversed the regions of Lake Superior and parts of the Mississippi Valley, and left interesting records of his experiences and observations. In 1670 he re-established permanently at Kaskaskia, Ill., the mission that was begun by Marquette but abandoned on the approach of La Salle. His observations on the Indians were published in the Jesuit Relations.

The monument unveiled today will mark the centre of the missionary's work in christianizing the Indians of Wisconsin, and the attendant exercises were no doubt very interesting.

THREE MAY TAKE OTIS' PLACE

Miles, Merritt and Brooke Likely to Go to the Philippines.

New York, Sept. 6.—A special from Washington says: The decision of a momentous question by the president is pending. It is this: Shall the American army in the Philippines be commanded by the three major-generals of the regular army—Nelson A. Miles, Wesley Merritt and John R. Brooke—so that the insurrection may be crushed in a blaze of glory?

Gen. Merritt wants to go to the Philippines, and has so informed the president. Secretary Root favors the superseding of Otis by an officer of higher rank in the regular establishment. Otis being but a regular brigadier. And now Miles suggests that all the major-generals of the regular army be sent to the scene of hostilities.

It is probable that this plan will be adopted, and the fall campaign against Aguinaldo be fought under the direction of the highest military officers of the nation. Unless Adj. Gen. Corbin succeeds in dissuading the president from taking this step, the necessary order will be issued within a few days.

14,090 SOLDIERS FOR MANILA

Arrangements for Transportation Are Completed.

Washington, Sept. 6.—All arrangements for the transportation to the Philippines of the infantry regiments numbered Twenty-six to Thirty-five, inclusive, and about 1,000 regular and volunteer recruits, have now been completed. The number of troops under orders to go to Manila, including the recruits, is 14,090. This, of course, does not include the ten additional regiments recently authorized.

A statement prepared for the secretary of war shows that there are 203 officers and 4,710 enlisted men now on the way to Manila, including those on the Morgan City. A telegram from Gen. Otis says that the Ohio has been ordered from Manila to take the troops from the Morgan City and bring them to Manila. It will take thirteen days for the Ohio to make the round trip.

Would Raise Regiment of Veterans.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 6.—It is possible that a special volunteer regiment of infantry will be raised in this city to enter the field against the Filipino army. Capt. Geary of the California heavy artillery, who has just brought his boys back from Cavite, was the first officer to conceive and telegraph to Washington the idea of organizing another regiment from among the returned fighters and former volunteers of the west. Permission was partly granted, but the governor of California must approve it before anything can be done.

The time was hung up at 1:45 and the mile as run in 1:38 1/2, the fastest mile ever run on a circular track. Carnero is 5 years old. The previous record for a mile and a sixteenth was held by Redskin, who made the distance in 1:45 1/2, at the Forsyth track carrying ninety pounds.

FROM ANTWERP,

Letter
Descriptive
Of European Travels.....BELGIUM, TO ROTTERDAM,
HOLLAND

BY WILL. W. WATT.

Rotterdam, Holland, Aug. 18.—A journey from Antwerp, Belgium, to Rotterdam, Holland, occupies two hours' time. On reaching the Holland frontier, your train stops at a small town, where the Dutch customhouse officials inspect your baggage. They are not very strict, and I was not even required to open my grip. On crossing the frontier, the first queer sight that greets you is the old fashioned Dutch windmill, with its four large revolving wings. Every farm has its mill, and it seems to me as though these windmills were more numerous than trees.

Farming in this portion of Holland is extensively given over to the raising of cattle, and from the frontier all the way to Rotterdam, you can see cattle grazing by the thousands. The largest cheese factories in the world are here located, and it is to these factories that the Dutch farmer takes his milk. Before you reach Rotterdam, your train pulls into the old fashioned city of Delft, which has a population of 32,000. Remarkably clean canals, bordered with lines of trees, pass through every portion of the town. Delft is noted to Americans more on account of its fine ware factories, where is manufactured a special brand of crockery, than it is for its historic interest. Guides show you through these factories free of charge, and the sight is well worth one's time. While in the show room I saw a French gentleman accidentally knock a small cup from the table to the floor. It broke in many pieces, and the result was, the mishap cost the man from France a ten dollar bill. He gathered up the pieces and departed, saying is he left that he had good reason to, long remember Delft.

When night arrived I went to what is supposed to be the best hotel in Delft. On alighting from my cab I was greeted at the door by the landlady, who weighed every ounce of three hundred pounds. She was all smiles, and to my surprise, spoke English very fluently. She said she had a comfortable room for me on the second floor, and that her charges in American money was two dollars a day, which included a light breakfast. The porter then showed me the way to the passenger elevator, which in Europe is better known as a "lift." Such an elevator and such a porter one seldom sees in America. He was a green looking Dutch youth, about twenty-two years old and wore a pair of trousers that just reached his ankles. In size these pantaloons were about three times too big for him. After entering this so-called elevator the porter closed the door and locked it from the outside. Then he set the thing in motion and up I went at a rate which made me think I would never reach the second floor. Instead of riding up himself the porter slowly walked up a flight of stairs that were close to the elevator, for it was one of the rules of this hotel that at no time should any of the help ride. The bedroom was large enough for a dancing hall and was decorated with numerous oil paintings of noted Dutchmen. It was all of sixteen feet to the ceiling. The bed was a study in itself. It was constructed of mahogany and its four posts reached within three feet of the ceiling. A feather mattress that was three feet in diameter formed its foundation and over all hung a canopy constructed of blue cloth trimmed with real Dutch lace. One candle formed the illuminating power for this room and although I burned no more than a quarter of its length the entire candle was charged to me in my bill the next morning at a rate of twenty cents in American money. Prior to my departure the next morning the bulky landlady informed me that she knew of no more disagreeable set of persons in the world than the American women. She gave me an illustration of how two girls from Boston remained at her hotel for weeks, and of how they made fun of everything about the place. After they had left the hotel the landlady says she discovered that the Boston girls had stolen a small sized oil painting from their bedroom wall and no less than a half dozen towels each of which bore the name of the hotel and town. In a loud tone of voice the lady of the house said, "Those two girls took those things for souvenirs, not fully realizing at the time that they were robbing me. If I had known of it the morning of their departure I should have made them pay dearly for their fun."

As self-confession is good for the soul, I must admit that on leaving my room that morning I appropriated one of these hotel towels for just such a purpose as the Boston girls did. When the enraged landlady had finished her tale of woe I bid her a hurried farewell, as I had but ten minutes in which to board an awaiting train for The Hague, Holland.

As the train slowly pulled out I breathed a sigh of relief and for all time I will appreciate the value of that towel as a Delft souvenir.

Throughout Holland you will find the leading hotels in charge of women and that they make a success of the business is quite evident. All other work about the hotel is generally left to the men except in the saloon or bar-room. Here you will find the handsome Dutch girl in all her glory. She is known as a barmaid and generally wears a plain gingham dress that reaches to her knees. A lace ornament adorns her hair and with sleeves rolled above her elbows she dispenses liquor with lightning rapidity. These barmaids are well paid for their work and the more handsome a girl is the greater demand are her services. In a barroom two blocks from my Delft hotel, was supposed to be the handsomest barmaid in all Holland and the proprietor of the place advertised the fact in all the city papers. Of course I had to go and see the young lady and in company with a young man from St. Paul we entered and invested in a temperance drink. The girl in question greeted us with a smile and shouted something in Dutch that was very much Greek to us. She was seated on a high pedestal placed behind the bar and was directly in front of a large mirror. She was evidently there for show purposes only as on each side of her were maids who looked after the thirsty Hollanders. This "beauty" was about eighteen years of age and was a long ways from being handsome, at least in our estimation. She was dressed in white and about her neck hung several strings of white beads. On her head was a wreath of red roses and the combination reminded me of an American Goddess of Liberty in a Fourth of July parade. For two lemonades our bill was seventy-five cents and I left the place without having the satisfaction of even knowing what it cost us to see "the most beautiful barmaid in Holland."

From the city of Delft a ride of twenty minutes takes you to Rotterdam, which is a modern city. Its population is 275,000 and it is estimated that fully a fourth are Roman Catholics. The city is the most important sea port in all Holland and the river flowing into the heart of the city is so deep that it admits the largest sea-going ships. Rotterdam lays claim to a twelve story business block, which is one of the sights of the city and the highest building in Holland. Several American life insurance firms have offices in this building. When I informed my hotel landlady that twenty-five story buildings were common in Chicago, she shook her head and said she would have to see them before she could believe it. My first night in Rotterdam gave me the opportunity of seeing how a Dutch fire department battles with a conflagration. The fire was on the third floor of a business block, which faced a street but ten feet wide. Bounding on the street was a canal, so common throughout Holland. Down this narrow street the fire department went with a large engine drawn by two noble looking steeds. In a remarkably short space of time the fire ladders had the blaze under control. Hundreds of men, women and children were at the scene, in spite of the fact that it was midnight. Every few minutes the crowds would cheer the firemen in their work. Women wearing wooden shoes and attired in sleeveless jackets, served free refreshments to the firemen, including beer carried about in large wooden pails. I followed the chief of the department about in hopes of learning his method of directing, but what I remember about him more than anything else was that he managed to put in most of his time drinking beer.

The distance from Rotterdam to The Hague is fifty-two miles. Here you will find a city of 185,000 inhabitants, and if you think that you are to see the streets here filled with women wearing wooden shoes and the old-fashioned Dutch dresses, you will be very much mistaken. On the other hand you will find The Hague of the metropolitan order. Here resides the queen of Holland, and about her is gathered all the aristocracy of all the Netherlands. No other town in Holland possesses so many broad and handsome streets, lofty and substantial houses and spacious and imposing squares. On the boulevards here you will find as stylish rigs as you see in Chicago. The rich Hollanders have their footmen and drivers the same as the wealthy Americans. A drive of one mile from the center of the city, through thickly wooded government land takes you to the House in the Woods, where was held this year the world's peace conference. The Hague also possesses a noted art gallery, where is to be found Rembrandt's world famed painting, the "School of Anatomy."

GOOD ROADS CONVENTION

To Convene in Council Chamber, Milwaukee—Stone Donated.

The question of a hall of sufficient size to accommodate the large number of delegates to the Good Roads Convention at Milwaukee, has been happily solved by the city authorities, who have granted the use of the council chamber in the new city hall. The convention will be called to order on Wednesday morning during the state fair week, September 12, at 10 o'clock.

The object lesson road to be constructed at the fair grounds will be built of Montello granite, which has been donated for the purpose, and which is among the very best material for macadam roads to be found in the country. The railroads have contributed to the success of the undertaking by offering to haul this road material free of charge. A section of the roads will also be built of hardheads, such as are to be found in almost all farming districts. These have been donated by Supt. Geo. McKerron, of the Farmers' Institutes, from his farm in Waukesha county.

WEATHER AND CROP BULLETIN

Excessive Heat Shortens Corn Crop—To-bacco a Good Yield.

Temperature. The past week has been as a whole the warmest week of the season, the average temperature for the state ranging from 80° over the southern counties to 64° along Lake Superior. The daily maximum temperatures were generally 90° or over until Saturday and Sunday, when a cool wave overspread the state. The week closed cool and fair.

Rainfall. The droughty conditions prevailing over the southern and eastern counties has been intensified by the intense heat and lack of rainfall during the week. For the remainder of the state the rains have been sufficient, except in a few localities.

Corn. has matured very rapidly during the week and early plantings are ready for cutting. The excessive heat has shortened the crop considerably in those sections of the state where the rainfall has been deficient, but for the major portion of the state the crop is in a very satisfactory condition. Late plantings will mature in about two weeks.

Potatoes. The extremely high temperatures during the week has been detrimental to the potato crop by increasing the tendency to blight, and causing the vines of the late plantings to dry up before the tubers were fully matured. Where there was a sufficiency of moisture the effect of the hot weather has been less noticeable.

Tobacco. The harvesting of the tobacco crop is nearing completion. The crop has ripened unusually fast during the past two weeks and growers are securing it as rapidly as possible. There has been comparatively little damage during the season by hail. The crop is large and of exceptionally good quality.

Cranberries. The weather has been very favorable for maturing the cranberry crop and a high grade fruit is promised.

MRS. S. J. VAN AIKIN
ELECTED PRESIDENT

ANNUAL MEETING OF WOMAN'S AUXILIARY OF Y. M. C. A.

None of the Old Officers Re-elected At Yesterday Afternoon's Gathering—Mrs. F. S. Eldred, the Retiring Head Officer, Gives a Message of Good Will.

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon the annual meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Young Men's Christian association building, the main business being the election of a new corps of officers. The session proved one both enjoyable and profitable. Following are the officers elected for the ensuing year.

President—Mrs. S. J. Van Aikin.

First Vice President—Mrs. Edward Reger.

Second Vice President—Mrs. C. A. Hunt.

Secretary—Mrs. W. G. Palmer.

Treasurer—Mrs. Henry Hanson.

The above are all new officers. Miss Ella De Baun, chairman of the nominating committee explained why the retiring officers were not re-elected. The report said that the Auxiliary recognized the right of the former officers to be placed on the retired list with the rank of brigadier general, but with no other pension than the honors which had come to them through the officers. For this change there could be no time more favorable than the present. The debt on the building is lifted, all the dormitories ready for use are well furnished and the definite work which the Auxiliary had set out to do has been accomplished. There will be no shifting of an old burden, but the new officers can go forward with new plans of work and with a bright outlook.

Mrs. F. D. Eldred, the retiring president, gave the following message of good-will to her fellow workers:

To the members of the Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A.—Three years ago this autumn you elected me as your president much against my inclinations, feeling as I did my inefficiency for so responsible a position. Nevertheless, I accepted the proffered honor, resolving to try and fulfill the duties attendant upon the office. Freely I acknowledge that the responsibility and association which my position devolved upon me has been a profit and pleasure, yes, an uplift, and I leave the activities of it more strongly equipped for service than when I entered.

Each year's report has familiarized us with our progress, at times dark and foreboding with ominous clouds that obscured our outward vision, then again we beheld the rift that revealed a silver lining, and now at the close of this present year the full sunlight illumines our skies and bids us go forward hoping and rejoicing.

Today closes my relation with you as presiding officer, and I wish to thank the officers, committees and members for the generous manner in which they have aided and sustained the work of an Auxiliary and for the courteous consideration they have ever shown me. I sincerely appreciate the forbearance and assistance, with the many kind words of encouragement given by loving, trusting friends, and although declining to have my name presented again for reelection, I shall hold sacred and consider our Auxiliary's best interests in the future as in the past.

I wish for my successor the same profit and pleasure I have received and to the officers and members I would say we know not what lies within us till we seek, for each human mind holds, somewhere, gems of beauty and of light, which, seeking, we shall find. May we cultivate peace and good will, forbearing one another in harmony and love, each working for the continued success of our Y. M. C. A., giving to it love, loyalty and our best efforts.

Whether they have had satisfaction from the Shoes that they have been wearing, and a greater number of the people of Janesville have purchased of us. You know that our Shoes always wear longer and keep their shape better than Shoes purchased at many of the so-called "Cheap-John" places. We will leave it with you to decide, but it seems the most sensible to purchase where you know the Shoes are right rather than take chances on old odd jobs of other days. We handle nothing but new factory goods and guarantee every pair.

That means that we take the chances, and not you. We carry the largest assortment in Southern Wisconsin and can properly fit your feet no matter what the shape and give you the style of Shoe that you want.

STRAIGHTFORWARD ADVERTISING THE BEST.

Milwaukee Wisconsin—That advertising is a valuable thing is indicated by the avidity of wide-awake people to secure it. Chicago is in a flurry just now on account of the discovery that Henry Lves Cobb, the architect of the new federal building whose corner-stone is to be ceremoniously laid next October, was not content with placing his name under the picture of the edifice which decorates the invitations to the ceremony and the cover of the souvenir-book for that affair, but has worked his monogram, "H. L. C.", into a corner of both designs, where it not too modestly balances the initials "U. S." standing for the United States. This recalls the dismay with which Bostonians found that the architects of the Boston public library had placed their firm name in the form of an acrostic in what purports to be a list of the world's leaders of thought, sculptured conspicuously upon the front of that imposing structure. "The signed article" is very well in its way, but advertising provokes popular resentment when it flaunts itself on ground dedicated to the ideal. The young married couple who furnished their house without cost by using rugs and chairs and pictures given out gratis by dealers whose business was exploited thereon, were condemned for their want of taste more than they were condemned for their thrift. Poetry and pictures dedicated to the advertising of Boyril or somebody's brand of soap are impotent to charm, though they come from the study of a Sir Edwin Arnold or the studio of a Milais. The decision of United States Commissioner Peck refusing space in the Paris Exposition for the Colorado gold statue, because he has discovered that it was to serve as an advertisement for an actress, is endorsed by public sentiment. There are legitimate and illegitimate modes of advertising. The advertiser who adopts a legitimate method of bringing himself and his wares to public notice—who, for instance, buys space in reliable newspapers and frankly makes his announcements therein—takes a straightforward, manly, businesslike course; which from every point of view is the best in the end and yields the largest valuable returns.

General Franz Siegel was for the union in '61 and is for the flag now. He advises standing by the president, and denounces men who "conspire against the country, behind the backs of those who work, who fight, who die to make it better."

Janesville should file her request for a government cannon to be put in the court house park. Other cities have them, and we should be in line. Just at present the war department has none to spare, but there will be more after awhile.

The railroads are rushed with business these days. At the Polk street depot, Chicago, three times last week more people were handled than on any day during the World's Fair period.

The people of Iowa have raised $40,000 to bring the troops of that state home from San Francisco, and give them suitable entertainment. There is nothing small about the Iowans.

Philippine Commissioner Schurman predicts a speedy solution of the trouble on the islands, and says that General Otis has made excellent progress.

Waukesha milkmen will form a trust to raise prices, saying that "the dry weather effects cows"—presumably by causing the wells to dry up.

The fact that Eugene V. Debs gave the Labor day address at Eau Claire is announced in a three line notice in a few state papers. Such is fame.

How long would it take the talented American war correspondent to "make the Dreyfus trial look like a case of canned pumpkin?"

Senator Carter, of Montana, says the Philippine question is a matter of business, and sentiment should cut no figure. He declares that "The great question will be, will it pay? If we can show the country that it will, as I think we can, the American flag will never come down from the Philippines."

Dispatches announce that "Green Patrick was shot and fatally wounded by Henry Bohleber at Carmi, Ill."

The daily "crisis in the Transvaal" is now dividing honors with the daily "crisis in France."

The silk ribbon trust can probably be managed without much red tape.

Vegetables Influenced by Others.

As a rule, varieties of melons, squashes, cucumbers, etc., cross readily in their class; intermixture of families is not so frequent, yet is said to occur. The results do not show in the fruit of the current year, but in the seed. A Long Island grower found that watermelons and muskmelons, grown 16 feet apart, or less, did not intermix. Peter Henderson's rule was to grow varieties of melons at least 100 yards apart. A New Jersey reader found cantaloupes grown within 50 feet of cucumbers produced fruit smelling and tasting like cucumbers.

"What is your opinion of the open-door policy?"

"It depends on the season. Just now I don't think it ought to be open." Thereupon the man in the office looked at the interviewer in such a meaning way that he immediately went back and closed it.—Chicago Post.

An Automatic Train-Stopper.

Among recent inventions is a device by which the air brakes of a railroad train can be applied from the track, as the train passes, without the intervention of the engineer. The air-brake system is connected with a lever controlling a vent in the train-pipe, and attached to the truck at the forward end of the locomotive. On passing over an obstruction, placed on the track for the purpose, the lever is tilted and the vent opened, thus letting the air into the brakes. The engineer can reset the lever from his place in the cab.

SIMPLY A CASE OF MISTAKEN IDENTITYCAUSED A BURGLAR SCARE
THIS MORNING.

Officer Bencke Forced to Take a Long Trip to Close a Comedy of Errors—Notified Of Prowlers At the William Quade Home—It Was Only a Drunk.

A case of mistaken identity caused a burglar scare on the outskirts of the First ward early this morning, and Officer Fred Bencke was obliged to take a long trip in order to close the comedy of errors that was in progress.

It was about 2:15 o'clock when two excited men came driving down to the Myers House corner on a run and told Officer Bencke that burglars were at the house of William Quade, just on the line of the city limits, and that his presence was needed to disperse them. He was taken into the buggy, and the party returned to the scene of action. Upon their arrival the officer found a rig standing a short distance from the house. He asked Quade if it was his, and was told that it was the one that brought the burglar. Officer Bencke groped his way to the rig and found that it had been driven into a post, evidently by a drunk. The horse had parted company from it, and a portion of the harness was attached to the shafts.

The barn was then searched and a man was found asleep on the floor. He was under the influence of stimulants and a hickory application was necessary to arouse him, upon which he was inclined to fight, but was soon convinced that he was up against the real thing in the police line. He was led up to the house where he could be seen and it was then discovered to the surprise of the family that the supposed burglar was a relative who had been extending his Labor day celebration and took it into his head to make an early call.

It seems that upon his arrival at the house, he demanded that the door be opened or he would break it down, and the family not complying he then threatened to burn the house. This threat caused a panic among the inmates, who supposed that they were dealing with a determined burglar, and in the excitement, Mr. Quade's mother fainted away from fright.

One of the women then left by the rear door and ran to the home of a neighbor a quarter of a mile away, and got a couple of the men to hitch up and come to the city for the police and Officer Bencke responded as above stated. He soon straightened matters out and the neighborhood resumed its usual tranquility. No arrests were made, but it is said that the calling down that the festive relative received was something awful to hear.

MEET AT BELOIT NEXT JUNE

Forty-first Session of Janesville Conference Closes.

The forty-first session of the Janesville District conference which had been in progress at the First M. E. church closed last evening after a gathering which proved a profitable one to the Methodists of the district.

Yesterday's first session was opened with the topic "General Conference Legislation" by Presiding Elder Frank A. Pease. Rev. T. De Witt Pease of Beloit, was assigned the topic "What Changes Needed?" Rev. Sabin Halsey of Sharon, opening the discussion.

Devotional services were held in the afternoon, conducted by Rev. H. D. Stone of Orfordville.

Rev. J. J. Garvin, of Fort Atkinson, led in the discussion of the district plan for the Twentieth Century Thank-offering, which was outlined by Rev. Frank C. Richardson of Shopiere.

The book review, "Through Nature to God" was ably handled by Rev. W. Rollins, of Evansville, and "Phillips Brooks a sermon writer," by Rev. W. W. Warner of Lake Mills.

Rev. J. J. Lugg of Lyons, conducted the open services last evening. The platform service was one of the most enjoyable features of the conference. There were two able discourses on the "Twentieth Century Thank-offering." Rev. E. Perry of Whitewater, handled the subject, "Two Million Souls," and Rev. S. Plantz of Lawrence University, took for his subject "Twenty Million Dollars." Both speeches showed ability and that they were appreciated was shown by the liberal applause.

Rev. Stephen A. Williams of the Palmyra circuit, and Rev. George F. Barber of Albion, were licensed to preach at the meeting of the conference just closed.

The following licenses were issued: Rev. E. W. Serl, Delavan; Rev. L. P. Boar, Hart Prairie; Rev. H. C. Logan, Footville, and Rev. H. C. Stone, Orfordville.

Rev. H. C. Logan of Footville, was recommended for admission on trial and Rev. Albert M. Sawin of Evansville, was recommended for ordination.

The audience sang the "Doxology" and after the benediction the assembled divines dispersed.

WILL SPEND A YEAR
IN PENITENTIARYSENTENCE RECEIVED TODAY
BY HENRY CARLSON

Punishment For the Theft of a Pair of Candy—Taken on August 28th, From the C. & N. W. Depot—Taken to Waupun By Sheriff Appleby at Noon.

For the theft of a pair of candy, Henry Carlson will spend one year in the state penitentiary. The crime for which Carlson was convicted was committed August 28 last, when he took a pair of chocolate creams from the Chicago & Northwestern freight depot. It was during the noon hour, when the employees were at dinner, and Carlson was caught while trying to dispose of the candy to the grocery firm of P. Rudolph & Co., at Monterey. His examination was held last Saturday and his trial took place this morning. He pleaded guilty and said that he committed the theft when intoxicated and did not know what he was doing. This was not his first offense, however, as he has given the police considerable trouble of late and the year in the pen may do him more good than anything else. He was taken to Waupun by Sheriff Appleby, this noon.

The civil case of Hanthorn against Jenkins came up today but was adjourned to Tuesday, Sept. 12.

The case of the state against George Welch, charged with burglary, was called this morning and adjourned to Thursday, Sept. 14.

"Tactical Messenger" Boy.

"One of the beautiful traits" in the make-up of Washington messenger boys, said a railroad man who lives in Washington, "is their tactfulness. I think otherwise. They are shock full of and loaded down with tact—with the copper on. To illustrate.

"My wife went over to New York a few weeks ago to attend the bedside of a seriously ill relative, who was not expected to live. This morning I was sitting in my office, wondering why I didn't get a letter from her by the first mail, when a tousie-headed messenger boy jogged over the door.

"Where'll I find the office of Mr. —" he asked, mentioning my name.

"Right here, son," said I. "You're talking to him."

"Well," said the kid, measuring me up with the probable expectation that I'd do a stage back fall, "I've got a death message for you, and they told me at the office that it was important."

"Nice, mild, tactful way of putting it, wasn't it? He just left it up to me to wonder, while I was ripping the envelope open, whether the message announced the death of our aged relative or the decease of my wife. It happened to be the former, but I am inclined to believe that that boy would have been just a bit better pleased had it been the latter."

Ibsen's Knowledge of German.

Henrik Ibsen, who has just completed his 71st year, is a German by descent, and speaks that language fluently, but curiously enough, he has not written any of his important works in that tongue. He was originally intended for the medical profession, but he was not long kept from his proper bent, for at the age of 22 his first drama, "Catilina," was produced. He was very shortly afterward appointed director of the Bergen theater, and his subsequent career has been a record of hard work and triumph. His talents early received official recognition, for before he was 40 he had a pension awarded him by the government. He is recognized as one of the leading apostles of realism and a dramatist who has been able to make a problem deeply interesting.

CUCUMBER PICKLES.

Two Recipes From an Excellent Household Authority.

To fulfill its mission as a tempting relish a pickle should be not too large, but firm, crisp and well flavored. For the realization of this condition the cucumbers must be well selected and a good formula for their preparation carefully followed out. In Table Talk, Cornelia C. Bedford gives two pickling recipes. The first is for "sweet pickled green cucumbers," as follows:

For one-half of a bushel of small cucumbers allow one-half of a pound of white mustard seed, one-half of a pound of black mustard seed, one-half of an ounce of whole allspice, one-half of an ounce of peppercorns, one-half of an ounce of mace, one ounce of freshly grated horse radish, one-half of an ounce of celery seed, one-half of an ounce of stick cinnamon, one dozen red peppers and one-half of a pint of white button onions. Pour boiling water over the cucumbers and let them stand until cold, then drain. Sprinkle them with salt, one-half of a pint to each 100 cucumbers, and again cover with boiling water. Let stand in this brine for 24 hours, drain and cover with fresh, cold brine of the same strength. Drain daily for six days and cover with fresh brine. On the seventh day drain and wash in fresh water; cover with weak vinegar, heat slowly and keep at a very slow simmer for five or six hours until the cucumbers look plump. Drain them, wipe dry, and pack in jars, adding to them the mixed spices. Cover with boiling hot cider vinegar, to which is added for each quart one-half of a pound of brown sugar.

Recipe No. 2 reads thus: Select the smallest cucumbers possible. To each 100 allow one ounce of whole cloves, one ounce of white mustard seed, one large tablespoonful of salt, one cupful of sugar and two small red peppers. Put the spices in thin muslin bags, lay them in a kettle with the washed cucumbers and add sufficient vinegar to cover. Heat slowly to the scalding point, take from the fire and bottle. Examine them every week or ten days after they are first put up to make sure that they remain firm and solid. If some soften, remove them and drain the vinegar from the remainder. Add one-half of a cupful of sugar to each 200 pickles, scald the vinegar and pour it boiling hot over the pickles.

THOMAS CASSIDY IS SEVERELY INJUREDDRAGGED FOR SOME DISTANCE
BY A COW.

An Employee of Captain Pliny Norcross At His Forest Park Home—He Was Brought Against a Tree With Terrible Force, Rendering Him Unconscious—Scalp Split.

Thomas Cassidy, who is employed by Capt. Pliny Norcross as a hired man at his Forest Park home, was dragged by a cow last evening and received several serious injuries.

It was just growing dark when Cassidy went out to put the cow in the barn for the night. He took hold of the rope by which she had been tied out, and had started down a small hill, when the cow made a jump and threw him off his feet. He was dragged for some distance and his head was brought against a tree with terrible force, rendering him unconscious. He was carried into the house by members of the family who had been attracted by the noise, and Dr. J. P. Whiting was summoned to attend him.

An examination showed that his scalp had been split from the center of the top of the head, to a point between the eyes for a space of seven inches, and that the tissues covering the skull were also broken. His left wrist was badly sprained, and his shoulder joint was bruised. The injured man was made as comfortable as possible, and it is thought that if nothing unforeseen sets in, he will recover. Mr. Cassidy is well along in years, however, and it would not be surprising if the accident went hard with him.

TALKS TO THE LIBRARY BOARD

Miss Marvin of Chicago, an Expert Librarian Here.

Miss Marvin of Chicago, who has had charge of the library school, which has been in progress at Madison during the past two months, addressed a meeting of the local library board last evening, and talked over matters pertaining to the library.

Miss Marvin is a highly educated and cultivated lady, and is authority on library work, and during the progress of the school at Madison has been in the employ of the State Library commission.

During the course of her remarks last evening, Miss Marvin stated that Janesville's library contained a good selection of books, but that this institution of intellectual development was not patronized as liberally as it should be by our citizens. She said that this was doubtless due to the absence of a proper card and subject catalogue, which would mean considerable in the way of expense but that the money could not be put to a better use.

The board took no definite action upon the suggestion of Miss Marvin, but intend to follow the ideas of the speaker as far as circumstances will permit.

During her stay in the city, Miss Marvin was the guest of Mrs. Ogden H. Feathers.

Marriage Customs of Tibet.

If a Tibetan marries the eldest daughter, he also takes as his wives all her sisters; if he marries the second, he takes all after her; and so on. The bridegroom's brothers also have a share in the bride and her sisters. When the husband dies the wives become the property of the brothers. The betrothal and marriage ceremony in Tibet is somewhat peculiar. When a young man makes up his mind to wed a damsel, he goes to the girl's father, and if he approves the proposal a meeting of both the families is arranged. After some preliminaries the bridegroom places a square lump of butter on the forehead of his lady love; the lady does the same to him, and the betrothed couple are then man and wife.

NEW EMPIRE STYLES.

Henriette Rousseau, Writing From Paris, Says They Are Coming In.

On the way home from abroad a stay of a couple of weeks in Paris is in order for all good Americans. There is the usual bewildering array of theater, magasin and promenade, and Paris is always Paris. Gay, bright and apparently the happiest people live in it. True, just now the endless procession of carriages and men on horseback is thinner in ranks than it will be in a month, but there is still enough to see. The very absence of all the great social lights gives one a better chance to look about to see what the future holds for women in the way of dress.

From the present outlook it would appear that we are decidedly in for first empire and directoire styles mingled in a way to preserve the best ideas in each and eliminate those less becoming.

There is one thing very noticeable, and that is the unusual thickness of the new silks. They look like those we read about—the silks that can stand alone. There is a splendid weave where the front is a rich, heavy grosgrain cord and the back of satin quite as fine. These are to be made in such a way as will show both sides—in jabot folds or loose scallops or some other arrangement. Tunics would have been a good way to show this superb double faced goods, but tunics are undeniably out of style. Not one first class house here is making them unless to order, and one may imagine that a woman is not going to order a tunic when told that they are out.

A new fashion is in the use of silks for tailor made suits. The silks must be of very firm quality, and then they are treated exactly as the cloth suits have been. A heavy grosgrain or peau de sole is certainly most beautiful when made in this way. Black or the very darkest shade of gray or prune or brown, for there is to be much dark brown this fall, are the only colors. All others would be manifestly out of place in a tailor made suit.

Some of these admit of velvet cuffs, collars and any other necessary adjunct. The skirts are not so wide or flaring, 3 1/2 yards being the width of most of them.

One reason why American women have worn less heavy silk for the last of the superiority of French taste or better, grouping they do not look so raw as the crude primary colors we have been condemned to wear for two or three seasons. Black velvet for whole hats and large poke bonnets and black velvet in piece and in ribbon is used to an unusual extent to trim hats—in fact, I think I may say that there is much more black used as a foundation for all millinery than has been seen before for a long time. There are flowers of velvet and satin, mostly roses, chrysanthemums in beautiful shades and double hollyhocks.

GIRL OF MANY CENTURIES.

Has a Belt Which Represents Sixty Runs of a Hundred Miles Each.

It is probable that Miss Julia A. Bartley of Toledo is the most enthusiastic woman century rider in this country. She thinks no more of riding 100 miles in a day than most women would of pedaling a quarter of that distance. Often she makes a century every day for a week.

She made her first century in October, 1890, and received from the club a gold century bar. Then she began to think what she could do if she had a number of those century bars. She decided they would make a novel belt. In the spring of 1897 she began piling up century runs and adding to her store of bars. She finished in September, during which month she made 22 century runs. This gave her 60 bars. She had ridden 6,000 miles and had the satisfaction of possessing one of the most novel belts in the country.

"While the actual amount spent in the belt is $408," says Miss Bartley, "this does not represent the cost of obtaining it. This belt, together with my watch fob, also made of multiple century bars, is going to the Paris exposition. In this fob is the quadruple century bar obtained as the result of the 40 1/2 mile run of Sept. 4 and 5, 1898. I was the first in the country to accomplish such a ride and hold the distinction, together with the record, for time. I have also a double and a triple century bar.

"My ambition this year is to make a quintuple, or 500 mile ride, as well as a ride from Toledo to Boston. I would have made the former two months ago but for sickness in our family."

New Craze for Society Women.

London society women have a new craze which sooner or later, of course, will be adopted here. It is certainly a sensible one. It is nothing more nor less than taking the "rest cure." In itself the "cure" is not a hard one to take, but it involves a certain amount of sacrifice. You have but to go away to a place where the air is bracing, and then go to bed for a "fortnight," as the English say, and then simply vegetate. You can read a little, but it must be but a very little, and during the two weeks you must have the services of a masseuse. After that period of probation you must walk and drive and cycle, and partake of all kinds of nourishing foods. That's all there is to the cure, but after one has taken it, one is ready and able for the summer season.

Landsdale and Korea's King.

Some years ago Lieutenant Landsdale, who was killed at Samoa, visited Korea on one of the American cruisers. He had a bicycle with him, and when Chemulpo was reached went ashore for a ride. It was the first bicycle the ignorant and superstitious coolies had seen, and they fled at the first sight of the strange man gliding along on it. The king heard of the wonderful machine, and Landsdale received a polite summons to come to Seoul and bring his wheel. He did so, and taught the king to ride. The latter at once ordered a royal collection of wheels, and he and Landsdale took many rides together. They grew to be excellent friends, and the young officer was always a welcome guest at the court. The friendship endured to the end of the life of the officer.

All tailor and in fact all other outdoor costumes have hat and parasol to match the general style of the gown. That is why Frenchwomen all dress so well. It is because things are chosen with a careful regard of their fitness for each other.

The hat to wear with this black silk costume was of black satin straw turned up in front and trimmed with black velvet and one high directoire plume. Black velvet strings tie under the chin not only this, but nearly all other hats and bonnets. Parasols have immensely long handles, more like walking sticks. These, with the fancy long, narrow mantlets, make the wearer look like a picture. The empire and directoire styles are not ugly at all when modified by common sense and modern necessities, but from the incroyables good Lord deliver us!

Colors are rich and warm and many of them very bright, but either because

A PRETTY ROMANCE.

Miss Kinsey and the Story of Her Recent Marriage.

This is the beautiful San Francisco girl who was recently married, after much maternal and paternal opposition on both sides, to Jose L. Barillas, the 19-year-old son of ex-President Barillas of Guatemala. Her maiden name was Miss Kate Kinsey. She is only 17 and the daughter of a prominent San Franciscan.

The story of the attempt of these young people to outwit their guardians is well remembered on the Pacific coast. In May, 1897, the captain of the tug Vigilant had a commission to take four young people out beyond the Heads. After the little boat had passed beyond the three mile limit the skipper was summoned and, after some demurring, agreed to perform the marriage ceremony of the sea that takes no cognizance of the law of the land.

Later the supreme court of California held that such a marriage was invalid, but Mr. and Mrs. Kinsey long before that had promptly settled the matter for themselves. Their daughter was guarded at home, and young Barillas left for Guatemala, whence he had been summoned a few days before, he coaxed his pretty sweetheart to marry him despite all opposition. The young people in parting exchanged pledges of undying affection.

Barillas promised to return in a year, but that could not be, and so, on invitation from Mrs. Barillas, Mrs. Kinsey and her two daughters paid a visit to Guatemala early this summer. The stately Spanish mother, when she saw Miss Kinsey, who is strangely like the women of the southland, agreed that her son's devotion was justified. The recent marriage was a happy finale.

AFTER THE RECORD.

Albert V. Roe is the one armed messenger boy who is making a bicycle tour across the continent. He expects to break the record which has been made by a wheelman with two good arms.

Young Roe left New York at the same time the automobile party left for a trip to San Francisco, but the party could not keep up the pace with him, and he lost them at Syracuse. Roe travels on a wheel especially made for him. In the center of the handle bar there is a grip which helps him in steering his wheel, and a bar to the right of this grip gives him additional leverage when he needs it.

When he reached Chicago, the officials of the Postal Telegraph company presented Roe with a new uniform, and when he began his journey from Chicago it was like a new start. An escort of 20 messenger boys set the pace for him out of the city. From Chicago Roe goes to Omaha and other big cities in the west. He will visit for a day at his home in Grinnell, Ia. Roe is 19 years old.

A Diamond Lover In Love.

A collector of gems in Boston possessed three perfectly matched solitaires, of blue, rose and yellow, and would show them to his friends as the loveliest combination of colors he knew anything about. The true lover of gems prefers stones uncut, so he can stir them about with the point of the jeweler's nippers or a pencil and enjoy their unalloyed sparkle and purity in every phase of light. These three perfectly colored diamonds, which were carried in the man's waistcoat pocket, wrapped in cotton, were valued at several thousand dollars, but one day Cupid appeared, and then one of the precious trio went into a blazing engagement ring, and the remaining two eventually found themselves turned into "jewelry." Such is the power of love.—Boston Herald.

Scrofula to Consumption.

Any one predisposed to Scrofula can never be healthy and vigorous. This taint in the blood naturally drifts into Consumption. Being such a deep-seated blood disease, Swift's Specific is the only known cure for Scrofula, because it is the only remedy which can reach the disease.

Scrofula appeared on the head of my little nephew when only 18 months old. Shortly after breaking out it spread rapidly all over her body. The scabs on the sores would peel off on the slightest touch, and the odor that would arise made the atmosphere of the room sickening and unbearable. The disease next attacked the eyes, and we feared she would lose her sight. eminent physicians from the surrounding country were consulted, but it could do nothing to relieve the little innocent, and gave it as their opinion that the case was hopeless and incurable. It was then that we decided to try Swift's Specific. That medicine at once made a speedy and complete cure. She is now a young lady, and has never had a sign of the disease to return.

Mrs. RUTH BECKLEY, Salina, Kan.

Scrofula is an obstinate blood disease, and is beyond the reach of the average blood medicine. Swift's Specific

LATE NEWS BY TELEGRAPH.

HAVE MADE NO CONCESSIONS.

Temporary Alaska Boundary Line Has Not Been Agreed Upon.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Great Britain and the United States have not agreed upon the temporary boundary line between Alaska and Canada, as announced in a New York paper, said Secretary Hay Tuesday. The secretary of state declined to discuss the question further than to give a flat denial to all the statements of the New York Herald.

The state department has been in correspondence with Mr. Tower, the British charge d'affaires here, in the absence of Ambassador Pauncefote, since July, and there is some prospect of an agreement along the old lines laid down by this government for a modus vivendi.

At the state department it is denied that any important concessions have been made or that there has been any promise of a port of entry on the Lynn canal in case the permanent boundary excludes Canada from that waterway.

Treasury Officials Worried.

New York, Sept. 6.—A special to the Herald from Washington, says that officials of the treasury department are taking every possible precaution to prevent the wholesale smuggling of Chinamen into the United States under the act authorizing them to be brought in to take part in the Philadelphia exposition. It is feared, however, that many Chinamen will get in who have nothing to do with the exposition, and that it will be impossible to get them out of the country again.

The act is so worded that the treasury officials have no discretion but must admit as many Chinamen as the exposition managers want.

Four Yachting Party Is Lost.

Toledo, Ohio, Sept. 6.—The report is in circulation that W. H. Giles' yacht went down in the lake Sunday night, and that Giles, Gus Munding, Charles Border, Jack Shaw, Ed Brown and one other whose name is not known were drowned. The sailing party left Toledo Sunday morning for Monroe, leaving there at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoon. Report says the yacht was found later capsized in the Detroit river off Amherstburg. There seems to be absolutely no trace of the men.

Labor Agreement Is Signed.

Copenhagen, Sept. 6.—The agreement between the employers' union and the building trades unions, closing the lockout which for nearly four months has kept between 40,000 and 50,000 men out of work, was formally signed Tuesday afternoon. The agreement provides that work shall be resumed immediately, but that the employers shall not be obliged to re-employ any workman who will not present himself before Saturday.

How Mrs. Pinkham Helped Mrs. Gooden.

[LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 12,733]

"I am very grateful to you for your kindness and the interest you have taken in me, and truly believe your medicines and advice are worth more to a woman than all the doctors in the world. For years I had female troubles and did nothing for them. Of course I became no better and finally broke down entirely. My troubles began with inflammation and hemorrhages from the kidneys, then inflammation, congestion and falling of the womb and inflammation of ovaries.

"Underwent local treatment every day for some time; then, after nearly two months the doctor gave me permission to go back to work. I went back, but in less than a week was compelled to give up and go to bed. On breaking down the second time, I decided to let doctors and their medicine alone and try your remedies. Before the first bottle was gone I felt the effects of it. Three bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and a package of her Sanative Wash did me more good than all the doctors' treatments and medicine.

"The first remark that greets me now is 'How much better you look!' and you may be sure I never hesitate to tell the cause of my health."—Mrs. E. J. GOODEN, AOKLEY, LA.

MUST ADMIT IMPORTED LABOR.

Judge Declines One State Can't Keep Out Another's Workmen.

Little Rock, Ark., Sept. 6.—Judge John H. Rogers of the Federal court has delivered an opinion in the strike controversy at Fort Smith, involving the question of state and federal prerogatives. He decided that the United States District court had jurisdiction over the action of a state court in issuing an injunction restraining commercial companies from importing miners and restraining railroad companies from transporting such miners from another state into Arkansas, and therefore dissolved the injunction issued by Judge Rowe of the state court. He said that while the citizens of a state were empowered to carry arms for their common good, no state had a right to prohibit the citizens of another from doing the same thing.

Stands Up for H. Clay Evans.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 6.—The report of S. B. Case, a member of the Grand Army investigating committee in the matter of the methods of Pension Commissioner H. Clay Evans, has been sent by him to the chairman of the investigating committee. Committee Chairman Case expresses the opinion that the commissioner of pensions is conducting the department in accordance with the law, which he is observing strictly to the letter. He takes the position that the present pension laws are too rigid in some respects. He suggests as a remedy for the many specified evils the enactment of a service pension law based on an age limit of 60 years. The report recommends an amendment to the existing law in reference to public lands such as to give the right to pre-empt a homestead of 160 acres to all honorably discharged soldiers of the war of the rebellion in any of the public lands owned by the United States.

Carter Will Be Punished.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Capt. Carter will have to serve his sentence. President McKinley probably will make a final disposition of the case about Sept. 20. Attorney-General Griggs has been reviewing the testimony and the investigations of the court-martial, and there is high authority for the statement that he will approve the findings of the court, and that President McKinley will not delay in putting the sentence of Capt. Carter into execution.
